

HIGH MANUFACTURING QUALITY "MADE IN SOUTH CAROLINA"

Passion for Technology

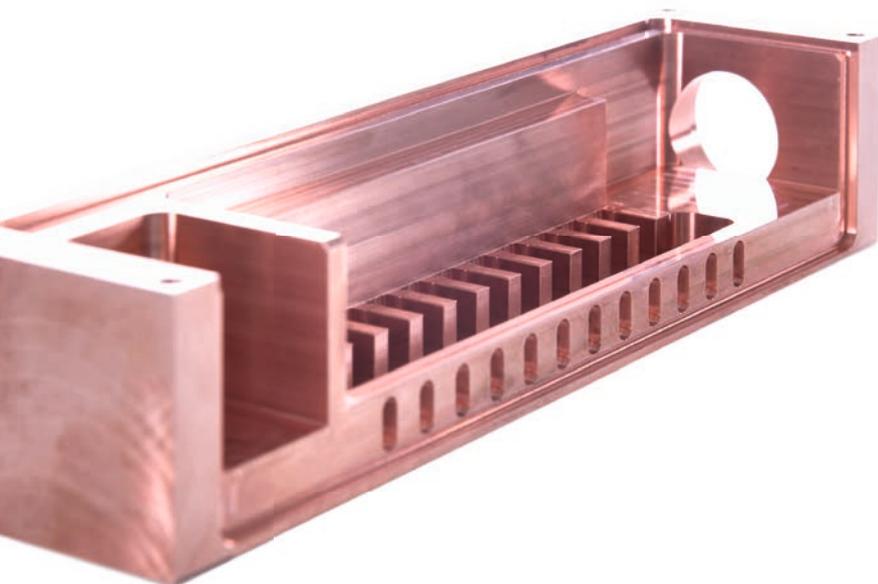

ZELTWANGER CNC Manufacturing: “The finest machine shop in the US”

Premium quality, comprehensive production expertise and high precision: As an independent US branch of the German ZELTWANGER Group, we specialize in the manufacture of machine components and assemblies with the highest standards of quality and complexity. Using state-of-the-art machinery we offer our clients exacting solutions. Even the most technically sophisticated customers in the US rely on us as a solid, dependable, specialized producer of precision machine components, calling us the “finest machine shop in the US”.

Solving your challenges in the field of precision components

Our customers benefit from exceptional reliability and an uncompromising standard of quality. We provide manufacturing services and sound advice, ensuring the very best service possible. We will be right beside you with our expertise and experience, from planning through efficient, reliable order processing and production to no-compromise quality assurance. You can depend on us to keep our promises; not only with delivery deadlines, but technical feasibility as well. Your satisfaction is what motivates us as it creates a solid foundation for the future. We are driven by our commitment to supply innovative, reliable solutions – from the first enquiry to delivery of the finished parts.

Precision, High Tolerance, Passion

We specialize in manufacturing to the highest quality demand. When the requirements call for micron level precision, we deliver. Our expertise is CNC 5-axis milling, from One-Off part supply to series part production. With our compliment of DMG milling machines, we handle a variety of material sizes and manufacturing needs.

For turned parts we have DMG Turning Centers capable of the highest precision. We are specialists in machining and use only the latest machinery to meet the customer demand.

Our passion is customer satisfaction.

The whole range of processes from a single source

We are the specialist when it comes to the high-precision production of machine components of the utmost complexity. We help you turn your visions into reality creating components or processes to your specifications and in line with your requirements. The very latest production techniques and technologies are used to achieve this. Our machining centers are supplied and controlled with programs from a central network. Innovative 3D programming systems enable the processing of even the most complex geometries. The quality of our work is seamlessly tested and documented. We have a wide selection of steel grades, alloy steels, stainless steels, aluminum and plastics. This combination makes for the utmost flexibility and allows the fastest delivery. With well established relationships with our partners we deliver parts turnkey to the customer. This includes hardening processes, coatings, and value-added assembly as required.
